

Our Instructor – Cynthia Knox www.cynthiaknox.com

Cynthia has been creating graphite and colored pencil art for 25+ years. She currently works for 2 publishers, Walter Foster Publishing and Ann Kullberg Publishing, with 7 published art instructional books (see www.amazon.com) and 2 more underway. Cynthia recently filmed an online colored pencil class with Craftsy (www.craftsy.com) titled “Vivid Flowers in Colored Pencil” which was released in January of 2015. She is a workshop instructor aboard Ann Kullberg’s May 2015 Celebrity cruise to Alaska and will be teaching at other venues in 2015.

Cynthia’s work has received numerous awards and is featured in private collections, books, magazines, and on websites. She is passionate about all things art and enjoys teaching techniques to students who are looking to learn a new medium or improve their pencil skills. Cynthia’s subjects range from florals and still lifes to portraits and pets. Her artwork is considered to be traditional realism, but she enjoys the abstract nature of extreme close-up subjects, especially flowers.

Cynthia resides in upstate New York with her husband Jeff, adult children Katharine and Abby, and way too many dogs. She credits her passion for art to a love of God’s creation and beauty seen in everyday life.
